Craftsman

Workshop • Potting Shed • Pool house

Offering lots of storage room and natural light, the CRAFTSMAN makes a great workshop or gardener's haven. The higher roof pitch and craftsman style brackets add elegance; the additional single door provides convenience. But it's the craftsman style dormer with transom that really raises this model above the ordinary.

general information

POST FOUNDATION

Use 4 x 6 treated posts. Dig the post holes 42" deep. Place post pad or concrete in the bottom of the hole. Insert 4 x 6s. Fasten 2 x 10 joists with bolts to 4 x 6 posts as shown making sure that the entire structure is square.

BLOCK SITE PREP

Place 8" x 16" x 2" cement blocks underneath the skids. Every skid needs a block at the front and back and then additional blocks need to be placed in the middle spaced not more than 6' apart.

CONCRETE PAD

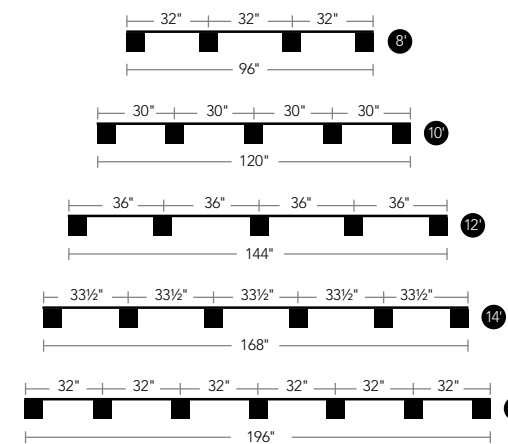

Pour the pad a 1/4" less than the building size on all four sides. We attach treated plates to the bottom of the walls protecting the walls from moisture and rot. These bottom plates are fastened to the concrete pad with concrete anchors.

LIMESTONE PAD

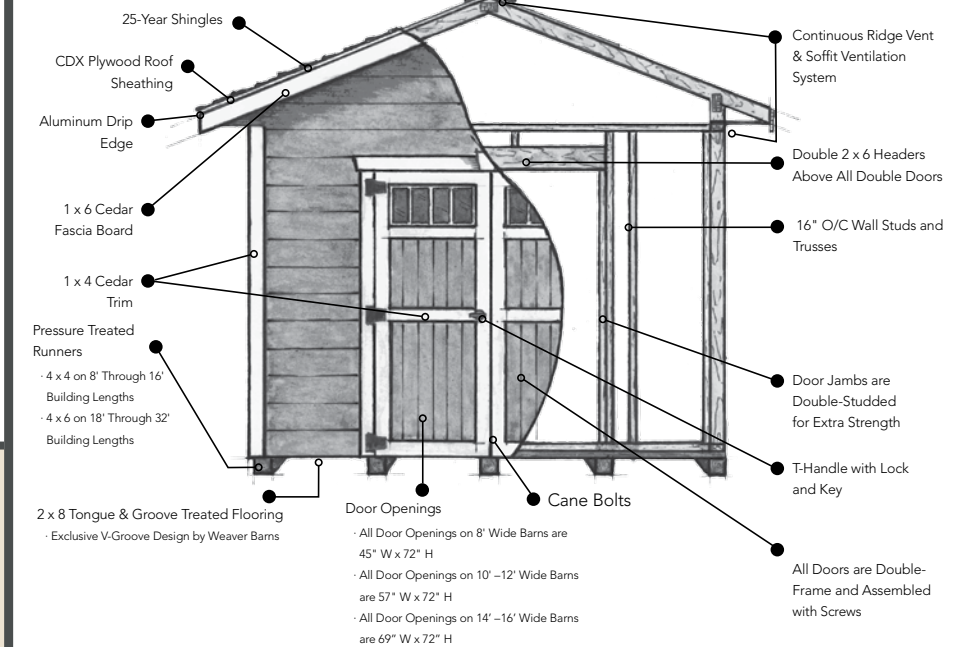

Spread 4" #57 limestone in a level pad 12" wider than the building on all four sides. Also you may want to use 4 x 4s on the perimeter as shown in the example. Compaction of stone is recommended.
